With no plans having been made here for such a service Dr. Cox will deliver an address tonight in keeping with the occasion and an invitation is extended to all to participate. Those who would do so are asked to make known their desire before the service.

Besides the anthem, "The Lord Reigneth," (Frye), Miss Ruth Hankins will play a violin solo.

Also separate the small cigars, of less than 3 pounds per 1,000, from those of more than three pounds per 1, 00.

The city council met last night in regular session and other than hearing the auditing committee's report which included the annual statement of the city's finances there was little other business transacted.

M. E. PROGRAM HERE

DR. COX TO PREACH SERIES OF SERMONS ON CENTENARY PLAN

TO LEARN STEWARDSHIP

Centenary Conferences and Sermons on Five-Year Plan to Spend 115 MILLION DOLLARS

To collect and spend 115 million dollars in missionary and reconstruction work in the next five years is the program outlined by the Methodist Episcopal church in celebration of the organization of its first missionary society a century ago. Centenary world program conferences to educate the church's membership in stewardship and to train its workers for life service will be held all over the United States, with pastors carrying the program to their individual churches.

Said Dr. Gilbert S. Cox of the First M. E. Church:

"The Centenary Celebration in the Methodist Episcopal and the Methodist Episcopal church South, celebrates the one hundredth anniversary of the foundling of the missionary society in that sense it is retrospective. But in these days of world reconstruction there is only one worthy thing to do by all who are interested in "Making the world safe," to take a renewed consecration to the greatest task ever laid upon a single generation.

"Before we undertake world reconstruction we must have church reconstruction. This involves a change of attitude on the part of many who have called themselves Christians. Christianity must be interpreted as God's supreme revelation of His purpose to save the race, and our chief concern is to co-operate in that Divinie conquest. One word which covers the whole change of emphasis is Stewardship. J. Campbell White a great character in international life says: "I trust that this stewardship revival is the beginning of that last great revival that seems to be indispensible before the church actually occupies and christianizezs the world." Geo. Warren Brown the wealthy shoe manufacturer of St. Louis says: "A campaign of education on stewardship will be the greatest vitalizer the church universal has ever had."

The next few Sunday morning servicesvices will be given over to the consideration of these themes.

Feb. 9. "The Stewardship of Prayer."

Feb 16. "The Stewardship of Personality."

Feb. 23. Special service for D. A. R.

March 2. "The Stewardship of Property."

March 9. "Stewardship and the World Emergency."

The amount considered necessary for the undertaking at hand represents 80 million dollars for the work of the church proper, 30 million for the Methodist Episcopal Church (South) and 5 million for reconstruction work in the devastated portions of Europe.

BEARS 15 WOUNDS

HARVEY WATSON IS HOME ON A SHORT FURLOUGH

BROTHERS IN REUNION

Howard, in Naval Service and Raymond, at Pattonsburg Surprise Home Folks With Short Visit.

Harvey and Howard Watson, brothers, who have been in active service with the U. S. Land and Naval forces, arrived home this mohning to visit their parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Watson, living west of the city. Harvey has been overseas since December 1917 with the First (Sunset) Division and was returned to the States in January, arriving on board the Northern Pacific January 3. He trained at Camp Lewis, American Lakes, Wash., enlisting out there where he was employed at the time.

He has had a series of mishaps which would weaken the spirit of anyone but a Yankee soldier. In the first week of real fighting, Harvey was severely wounded. He was struck four times by shrapnel, two of the wounds being decidedly bad.

After a couple of months in the hospital, he went back in the fighting line and within two weeks was again wounded. This time he suffered eleven shot wounds, four of these were very bad, one goin gthrough his shoulder, one through his thigh and one through each foot. He was invalided home and the Northern Pacific hospital ship on which he sailed went aground on the coast south of New York and the wounded men were taken off with difficulty, although none suffered any serious trouble. He is now at the base hospital at Ft. Riley and will return there after a ten days visit and will remain until the wound in his shoulder is completely healed.

Howard is now aboard the S. S. Buitenzorg, a Holland freighter which is being loaded with cotton at New Orleans and after a three days furlough at home, Howard will join his ship for a trip to Liverpool. He has been in service over a year and during that time has made four trips across to France with transports and cargo ships and has made numerous coast patrol trips.

Neither boys knew the other was coming, until they telegraphed the day previous to one another and they then arranged to get home on the same train and surprise their parents. They brought with them their brother, Raymond Watson, a teacher in the school at Pattonsburg, and his wife, and they are having a family reunion at the old home today.

GLORIES OF WARPATH GONE

Canada Is Transforming Its Indians Frm the Romantic to Thrifty —Tribes Are Increasing

Winnipeg, Canada, Feb. 8.—Canada has transformed its Indians. It has robbed them of romance, but it has given them properity.

Eagle Feather, the old chief, cranks his automobile in front of his farm house, He climbs into the seat behind the wheel.

"Come on, children," he calls, "or you'll be late for school."

Five happy-faced youngsters romp out of doors, kiss their mamma goodby, and the machine purrs along the road through the wheat fields and orchards for the little red schoolhouse. Old Eagle Feather drives back home and does a day's plowing.

That's the Canadian Indian today. Gone are the glories of the warpath, the paint and feathers, the yelling triumph of lifting scalps. You tell an

Good prices were realized at the public sale of Harry L. Yates of Burlington Junction Tuesday. Hay sold for $32 a ton, corn for $1.45 to $1.48 a bushel and oats for 80 cents. Rev. W. H. Rust of Burlington Junction is wearing some bandage over his left eye as a result of a tangle with a Ford car which he attempted to crank Monday. One of the members of his church at Bethany was bringing him to Maitland and when the driver killed his engine Mr. Rust volunteered to crank the car for him. The crank slipped, as cranks some times will do, and Mr. Rust struck his forehead on the corner of the number plate of the car, cutting a deep gash in it. This explains that it was not a piece of kindling which is usually the alibi

Mr. and Mrs. Vern Reed, who have been living on the old Wes Miller farm southwest of Burlington Junction, left Monday afternoon for DeRidder, La. Fourteen Scouts were present and the meeting was in charge of Ccoutmaster R. O. Corken and Assistant Scoutmaster Richard Zarn. The front room is furnished wit hchairs and table and the back room has shelves and other receptacles where the Scouts may keep their supplies and relics. When they go in full swing the Scouts will have very convenient and comfortable quarters. Mr. Zarn is letting them use the rooms free of charge.

The following is a copy of a letter recently received by Clyde Collins of Skidmore, who was a runner between companies 103—his own company—and 104 in the second battle of the Marne.

THE YANKEE DIVISION
"Discipline and Stout Hearts."

Private Clyde Collins, Company B, 103d Infantry:—

I have read with much pleasure the reports of your regimental commander regarding your gallant conduct and devotion to duty in the field on July 18th to 25th, 1918, in the attack under heavy enemy fire—2d battle of the Marne, and have ordered your name and deed to be entered in the record of the Yankee Division.

(Signed) C. R. EDWARDS.
Major General, Commanding 26th Division.

Pearl Hays has purchased the C. H. Beverlin property in the southwest part of Skidmore for $1,400, and will get possession about March 1. Charley Beverlin did not want to move away from Skidmore, so he bought the Mrs. Al Pruceman property in the west part of town. Consideration $1,100.

C. S. Hayes, who lived in Ravenwood, about ten years and who moved from our midst twenty years ago, returned to our little burg Friday evening of last week and spent several days mingling with old time friends. He was accompanied by his brother, Oscar, who also lives at Lewisville, Ill. The former Hayes is surveyor of his home county.

The first Ravenwood boy to get his discharge and return from service over seas is Grant Gates, who came in Sunday morning. He was in the medical detachment of the Third Battalion and served in various divisions at the front His stories of conditions are most interesting and the Gazette regrets that we are not equipped to furnish many of them in the paper. Grant met General Pershing a few times and also a number of the other American generals and he is of the opinion that some of Pershing's subordinates are better qualified to look after the safety of the Doughboys than he is. Pershing is too militaristic, according to Gates, and his is not the first criticism that he have seen of the general. He expects as much of the soldier who has taken the short term drill course as he would of the regular army veteran.

A telephone meeting was held at the Farmers Bank of Parnell Saturday afternoon and it was unanimously carried that the dues for this office should he raised at least ten cents per telephone, and it was so recommended to the annual meeting to be held at Worth tomorrow. An operator has a hard time of it at the very best and they should be paid for their work and we might get better service.

IN MEMORY OF ROOSEVELT

Filled with a fiery righteousness,
A warrior for God was he;
Impersonation of fearlessness
For "strong in the Lord" was he.
And oft against "spiritual wickedness"
In places high he fought;
And did such virile force possess
It was not in vain he wrought.

'Gainst "powers" and "principalities"
Wherein was surely harm,
If this cause were humanity's
How swift to bare that arm.
That wondrous strength how freely given
To combat wrong, uphold the right;
Well for his country he has striven
And has increased her might.

O, in how many walks and ways!
How many the paths he blessed!
To him his country gives her praise,
And well may he be praised
As statesman, soldier, publicist
With courage he has served,
And from the path he saw as right
Not one inch has he swerved.

O can it be that you are gone,
Who were but yesterday so tstrong
To lead and point the way!
You showed to us your Guiding Star,
But blindly following from afar,
We groped along the way.
Yet we rejoice we struggled on,
And you were saared to us thus long
To guide toward the Day.
And you were spared until the Dawn,
Your influence cannot be withdrawn,
You showed America the Light!
You helped America choose the Right!

Our love and gratitude to you
We shall forever owe;
And other lands are debtor, too,
How much we cannot know.
You taught to us that Freedom's cause
No boundaries yet could bound,
And that our neighbors' cause is ours,
Where tyranny is found
You set for us a higher goal,
You helped America save her soul!

You wrought for peace of righteousness
And righteousness of peace,
You stirred us from our slothfulness,
Nor did your labors cease;
You thought to teach men to endurs,
You sought to make a peace secure
'Gainst future types of Huns;
You would have pour country take her place,
Supported by a manly race,
True Freedom's worthy sons,
True champions of humanity,
Of brotherhodd and Liberty,
Who would keep their country's honor free

This then, for service be prepared,
One lesson taught by you.
It seems that you can ill be speraed
You were our mentor true;
An inspiration to live God's laws,
And animation to Freedom's cause.
So may we rise to every task,
O may we strive as you have striven
Support the right, suppress the wrong,
And tho" alone, in our faith stand strong.
O, how could world or nation ask
More of one man than you have given!

A recent news dispatch says that an invention has been perfected to permit ten people to talk over a wire at once. Great oversight in the Farmers' Mutual that it did not have the thing patented a long tome ago.

Observation: It doesn't take much "will power" for a man to resist the temptation to go to church Sunday morning.

Growing thin makes a man worry and worrying makes a man grow thin. This is a great world.

There are some other delusions that sometimes seize a man besides the one that there is money in keeping a few chickens in town.

Brethren and Sisters: Believe me, I can't grow enthusiastic over that story in the Bible about the return of the prodigal son. That ornery whelp went away and left the old man and the other boys right in potato digging time and went away with some chicken and had him a good time as long as his money lasted. Then, when she had ditched him for some other fellow who had coin, the kid went sneaking back home, and the old fool father went out to meet him and sent the good boy who had stayed at home and helped gather the corn and shock the wheat, to kill the yearling heifer, and made a great feast and took on over the diseased and anaemic son as if he was some pumpkins. I don't blame the good boy who had worked and sweat on the farm while his brother was off having a good time for getting sore at the old man. Do you?

A reader of this colm sends in an original poem with the request that it be given a place in "Forumettes" Sorry, but it can't be did. Poetry is barred from this colm—the prose in it is rotten enough and about all our readers will stand for.

Don't mind it if your friends kid you sometimes—it may save you a lot of grief. Two men, clerks in a local store, got tired of being kidded because they had never taken a chew of tobacco and proceeded to sample a plug of Star. The doctor prescribed a dose of salts and quiet for a day or two.

"Love is a wonderful thing," says a writer in Woman's Journal. It certainly must be. We've seen it lead a girl to leave a good paying job and a pleasant position in life and a good home, and go off to cook three meals a day for an ornery man and do the house drudgery for three kids. It is a wonderful thing—a most wonderful thing.

ARMENIA IS THE AMERICA OF ASIA

RICH IN NATURAL RESOURCES, COUNTRY PROMISED TO BE A GREAT DEMOCRACY.

STOOD IN GERMANY'S WAY

Fact Has Been Established That Hun War Lords Dictated the Little Nation's Destruction.

Amenia is the America of Asia. It promised to be a great democracy. It stood in the way of German autocracy and the Berlin to Bagdad dream of the late German ruler. Therefore Armenia had to give way to the Hun. It has been established that the attempted extermination of the Armenian race was dictated by the war lords of Germany. The Turks made good agents for the German government and accomplished its orders to the utmost satisfaction of the Teutons.

Armenia is one of the oldest nations of people in the world. Its history antedates Rome and goes back to the early Christian era. It has no political existence at the present time, consequently is absolutely dependent on the mercy of other nations for support and maintenance.

The Aremnian people are of the Caucasian race. They speak their own language. They are progressive, politically educationally and religiously. Practically all the educators, doctors, lawyers, bankers and men of other professions of the Turkish empire have been Armenians. The country is rich in natural resources, and if given assistance at this most critical time, will rise to a self-supporting nation in a short time. Most of the Armenian men have been killed in the Turkish massacres. Many of its women have fallen, and the white bones of hundreds of thousands today lie on the desert sands between the Black Sea and the Mediterranean. Yet the situation is not hopeless.

The American Committee for Relief in the Near East will return this remnant of a Christian nation to the fertile farms and cities of former progressive Armenian communities. The committee will feed these stricken people over the winter. It is already feeding them. It will give them seeds and farming implements, cattle and sheep. More than 50,000 homes will be erected, taking the places of homes destroyed by the Turks. It will be the cheapest money America ever spent. The 30 million asked in the nation-wide drive to start Feb. 3 in Missouri represents only 30 cents per capita of the American population. It is only one-fifth of the amount which we gave for the comfort of our own soldiers in France.

The first of a fleet of relief ships owned by the American Committee for Relief in the Near East left New York last Monday bound for Asia Minor. The vessel, the Mercurius, which has been given the committee by the Navy Department, with the approval of the Food Administration, carries an assorted cargo of materials and equipment for the Armenians. It is expected to reach Constantinople in about a month and begin the distributing of food, clothing and medical supplies. Another steamer, similarly equipped, but carrying a greater supply of foodstuffs, will sail from New York the middle of next month. Cholera has been added to the many miseries of the afflicted people and hundreds of refugees are dying every day from the plague. Severe hunger is aggravating the pestilence. Fifteen American hospitals in France have been turned over to the American Committee and will be transported to Asia Minor.

WHY RED CROSS DOES NOT DO THIS WORK

All During War American Committee Had Worked in Turkey and They Are Now on the Scene.

From the time the United States entered the war it was impossible for the Red Cross to carry on its work in Turkey. With other organizations they were forced to leave the Ottoman Empire.

During all the latter part of the struggle when all other organizations had been evicted from Turkey the American missionaries stayed.

They were on the ground during the persecution of the Armenians, the Assyrians, the Greeks and the Jews.

They managed to maintain their organization through the war. They have been in the country for many years and are entirely familiar with the situation.

They will not have to train and send workers there for the distribution of the $30,000,000 fund that is being raised in this country Feb. 3-10 for the starving people of the Near East.

Their organization has been examined by the U. S. Food Administration and pronounced entirely satisfactory and able to carry out the work that must be done. They are ready to start working just as soon as the funds can be raised and placed in their hands. They know the Armenians, Greeks and other peoples with whom they hace to deal and they also know the Turk.

Indian only by the color of his skin and his straight black hair. Otherwise he is just like ordinary country folks.

"Canada has solved its Indian problems," said William Graham, Commissioner of Indian Affairs of Western Canada. "Canada has civilized him.

"The Canadian Indian today is an educated farmer. He is a Christian and goes to church regularly every Sunday—often drives there with his family in his automobile. His children go to school. He makes his living by cultivating the soil. He is as good a farmer as his white neighbors—sometimes a better one. Government agricultural experts visit him periodically. They teach him the latest scientific methods of cultivating the land. Many Indians are agronomists in the highest culture sense. The new generation is keen to learn and progress and become the equal of the white man in every way.

"The richness of Canadian soil has had much to do with changing the Indians. They have seen their white neighbors taking fortunes out of the ground with a plow, and it has encouraged them to do likewise.."

The Commissioner said there was no foundation for the common belief that the Indians were gradually dying out. The Indian population of Canada has been increasing for the last ten years. Better living conditions, education and medical attention are accountable for this. There are 100,000 Indians in Canada. Indians in Western Canada put under cultivation 100,000 acres of land last year. They produced 400,000 bushels of wheat. All the Indian reserves are self-supporting.

Two thousand Indians enlisted in the Canadian army, went overseas and upheld their old warpath traditions in the war against the Hun.

EVERY MAN OWN MOONSHINER

Slogan of "Wets" Causes Old Timers to Dig up Recipes and "Kitchen Stills" to Be Numerous.

Washington, Feb. 4.—Every man his own moonshiner—so simple a child can make it!

This is the impression one gains after talking with occupants of the "mourners' bench" in the national capital. Although five months remain before war-time prohibition becomes effective—after which the constitutional amendment will become operative, probably without giving the mourners a breathing space—Washingtonians, at least, appear to be fortifying themselves with weid formulas for the concoction of various "kitchen kicks" and "subterranean snifters." And it is not improbable that Washington is no exception.

For instance, you meet one of the old-timers on Pennsylvania avenue. You exchange condolence with him. He weeps copiously as he wails a requiem for the good old days when "personal liberty" was simply lying around loose in slathers, waiting to be picked up. But in the midst of the dirge his face lights up with an expression not unlike that of the drowning mariner who sights a lifebelt floating within his reach.

"Say!" he confides, "I got something here I'm gonna try. Sounds pretty good." And surreptitiously he draws forth from his wallet the magic formula. As a rule it runs along something like this:

"This two pounds of corn meal and put it in a stone jug. Then put in a pound of brown sugar, eleven raisins, a cake of yeast and a dash of Jamaica ginger. Fill the jug with water, put a stone on the cork and bury it in the backyard in the dark of the moon. Let it stay for three weeks and it's then ready to serve"—if shock-proof glasses are used.

"And they say," is the usual comment of the old-timer, "that it's got a kick that'd make any army mule blush for shame.

There are many and varied of these recipes floating around, and it is said that the government officials upon whom will devolve the responsibility of enforcing the prohibition laws already are laying their lines for raids on "kitchen stills."

But if the resultant concoctions are as deadly as the formulas might indicate, there is reason to believe that they will have little to do, and that the problem, "What shall we do with our ex-bartenders?" can be easily solved. The answer is:

"Make undertakers of 'em."

$10. BUT NO LIVER

Even With Peace Army Life Is Not All Peaches and Cream.

Paris, Jan. 17.—Even if peace has come, army life is not all peaches and cream, but when it is all liver, there is going to be a kick. There was, too, in a regiment north of here recently when, after a period of no fresh meat, every supply train for about two weeks brought a shipment of liver, which the boys had morning, noon and night.

A big doughboy stood this until one day he got a letter from home with a check for 100 francs. Straightway he got leave and made for Bar-le-Duc. He walked into the Y. M. C. A. canteen there, settled himself at a table and called for a menu card. And there it was again—liver—but further examination showed that there were plenty of other things. Taking out a pencil, the doughboy carefully blotted out the offending viand. Then he handed the "Y" women the card and announced triumphantly:

"Gimme ten dollars worth both ways from the liver."

Punches vs. Pulpits.

London, Jan. 20.—A stunt that has delighted some hundreds of American soldiers and scandalized some well-meaning but old-fashioned persons have been "pulled off" here in the form of a boxing show which a Baptist minister staged in his church in one of the London camp areas.

The Y. M. C. A. had been arranging these contests between Yanks and Tommies, but in the particular camp mentioned there had been none because there was no suitable place to hold it. Then the minister stepped forward and offered his church. The Lieutenant Colonel of the outfit was the referee and "a merry time was had by all," as may be judged from the fact that the six bouts resulted in three knockouts.

Dr. Gilbert S. Cox of the First M. E. Church announces a Memorial service at the church tomorrow night in memory of Col. Theodore Roosevelt. A call for nation-wide memorial services for Col. Roosevelt was sent out early last month by Grosvernor B. Clarkson, a director of the National Council of Defense. With no plans having been made here for such a service Dr. Cox will deliver an address tonight in keeping with the occasion and an invitation is extended to all to participate. Dr. Cox said he would be glad to have others who might desire to do so add such tribute as would be proper or to take part in the program as he believes the matter worthy of community interest. Those who would do so are asked to make known their desire before the service.

Besides the anthem, "The Lord Reigneth," (Frye), Miss Ruth Hankins will play a violin solo.

NEW TAX ON CIGARS-TOBACCO

Dealers Should Make Inventories on Day New Revenue Bill Takes Effect, Says Revenue Collector.

George F. Crutcheley, collector of internal revenues, has bee advised by the Department at Washington that the Revenue Bill now pending before Congress will probably be enacted at an early date.

It is importat that all dealers should make inventories complete before beginning business on the day the law becomes effective. The date of enactment can be obtained from the daily newspapers.

In determining the quantities on hand the chewing tobacco should be carefully weighed and the total number of pounds given. The totals of the different size packages of smoking tobacco should be entered separately—giving the name of brand and number of packages of the different weights on separate lines brand, the retail price and the different values—Class A, class b, class C, class D, and class E in separate columes. Also separate the small cigars, of less than 3 pounds per 1,000, from those of more than three pounds per 1, 00.

This inventory should be preserved until the regular blanks can be furnished by the Internal Revenue office. After receipt of same the returns can be forwarded with remittance in payment of the tax.

No Ice Has as Yet Been Put Up—M. A. Hahn Named on Mayor's Committee for War Memorial.

The city council met last night in regular session and other than hearing the auditing committee's report which included the annual statement of the city's finances there was little other business transacted.

A communication was read from Gov. Gardner acknowledging receipt of certification that Maryville had voted to adopt a new form of city government.

A communication signed by all the judges who served in the recent city election was presented to the council in which they advised that they had served without pay. The council voted to extend them a vote of thanaks.

Mayor Garrett announced that the firm of Shoemaker-Bovard had asked that a price be put on the old fire truck and the old tank wagon owned by the city with a view to purchase. The mayor was given authority to name a price and to make the sale if the parties desired to buy.

A contract drawn up for the sale of ice from the city reservoir to Harve England was read by City Attorney Harvey, but was not signed by either the city or England, as no ice has as yet been put up.

A loan of $400 authorized to be made by the Library Board from the Farmers Trust Co., was ordered paid.

The council named M. A. Hahn to represent that body on the Mayor's committee called to meet Friday night February 14 at the Commercial Club rooms to discuss the proposed memorial to soldiers and sailors.

M. E. PROGRAM HERE

DR. COX TO PREACH SERIES OF SERMONS ON CENTENARY PLAN

TO LEARN STEWARDSHIP

Centenary Conferences and Sermons on Five-Year Plan to Spend 115 MILLION DOLLARS

To collect and spend 115 million dollars in missionary and reconstruction work in the next five years is the program outlined by the Methodist Episcopal church in celebration of the organization of its first missionary society a century ago. Centenary world program conferences to educate the church's membership in stewardship and to train its workers for life service will be held all over the United States, with pastors carrying the program to their individual churches.

Said Dr. Gilbert S. Cox of the First M. E. Church:

"The Centenary Celebration in the Methodist Episcopal and the Methodist Episcopal church South, celebrates the one hundredth anniversary of the foundling of the missionary society in that sense it is retrospective. But in these days of world reconstruction there is only one worthy thing to do by all who are interested in "Making the world safe," to take a renewed consecration to the greatest task ever laid upon a single generation.

"Before we undertake world reconstruction we must have church reconstruction. This involves a change of attitude on the part of many who have called themselves Christians. Christianity must be interpreted as God's supreme revelation of His purpose to save the race, and our chief concern is to co-operate in that Divinie conquest. One word which covers the whole change of emphasis is Stewardship. J. Campbell White a great character in international life says: "I trust that this stewardship revival is the beginning of that last great revival that seems to be indispensible before the church actually occupies and christianizezs the world." Geo. Warren Brown the wealthy shoe manufacturer of St. Louis says: "A campaign of education on stewardship will be the greatest vitalizer the church universal has ever had."

The next few Sunday morning servicesvices will be given over to the consideration of these themes.

Feb. 9. "The Stewardship of Prayer."

Feb 16. "The Stewardship of Personality."

Feb. 23. Special service for D. A. R.

March 2. "The Stewardship of Property."

March 9. "Stewardship and the World Emergency."

The amount considered necessary for the undertaking at hand represents 80 million dollars for the work of the church proper, 30 million for the Methodist Episcopal Church (South) and 5 million for reconstruction work in the devastated portions of Europe.

HARVEY WATSON IS HOME ON A SHORT FURLOUGH

BROTHERS IN REUNION

Howard, in Naval Service and Raymond, at Pattonsburg Surprise Home Folks With Short Visit.

Harvey and Howard Watson, brothers, who have been in active service with the U. S. Land and Naval forces, arrived home this mohning to visit their parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Watson, living west of the city. Harvey has been overseas since December 1917 with the First (Sunset) Division and was returned to the States in January, arriving on board the Northern Pacific January 3. He trained at Camp Lewis, American Lakes, Wash., enlisting out there where he was employed at the time.

He has had a series of mishaps which would weaken the spirit of anyone but a Yankee soldier. In the first week of real fighting, Harvey was severely wounded. He was struck four times by shrapnel, two of the wounds being decidedly bad.

After a couple of months in the hospital, he went back in the fighting line and within two weeks was again wounded. This time he suffered eleven shot wounds, four of these were very bad, one goin gthrough his shoulder, one through his thigh and one through each foot. He was invalided home and the Northern Pacific hospital ship on which he sailed went aground on the coast south of New York and the wounded men were taken off with difficulty, although none suffered any serious trouble. He is now at the base hospital at Ft. Riley and will return there after a ten days visit and will remain until the wound in his shoulder is completely healed.

Howard is now aboard the S. S. Buitenzorg, a Holland freighter which is being loaded with cotton at New Orleans and after a three days furlough at home, Howard will join his ship for a trip to Liverpool. He has been in service over a year and during that time has made four trips across to France with transports and cargo ships and has made numerous coast patrol trips.

Neither boys knew the other was coming, until they telegraphed the day previous to one another and they then arranged to get home on the same train and surprise their parents. They brought with them their brother, Raymond Watson, a teacher in the school at Pattonsburg, and his wife, and they are having a family reunion at the old home today.

GLORIES OF WARPATH GONE

Canada Is Transforming Its Indians Frm the Romantic to Thrifty —Tribes Are Increasing

Winnipeg, Canada, Feb. 8.—Canada has transformed its Indians. It has robbed them of romance, but it has given them properity.

Eagle Feather, the old chief, cranks his automobile in front of his farm house, He climbs into the seat behind the wheel.

"Come on, children," he calls, "or you'll be late for school."

Five happy-faced youngsters romp out of doors, kiss their mamma goodby, and the machine purrs along the road through the wheat fields and orchards for the little red schoolhouse. Old Eagle Feather drives back home and does a day's plowing.

That's the Canadian Indian today. Gone are the glories of the warpath, the paint and feathers, the yelling triumph of lifting scalps. You tell an

NEWS FROM

NODAWAY COUNTY TOWNS

G. W. Clary of Clearmont has sold his farm, two miles south of that town to J. C. Robinson for $250 an acre. The farm is one of the best farms in this section and has fine improvements on it. We have not learned what Mr. Clary intends doing.

The Right Rev. Bishop J. Schrembs of Toledo, Ohio, was the guest of Conception Abbey from last Saturday until Wednesday. On Sunday he blessed the candles and assisted at High Mass and Vespers. On Monday evening the students had the pleasure of listening to a very interesting lecture given by the Bishop in the college. Bishop Schrembs is a zealous promoter of Gregorian Chant and a warm friend of Father Prior of Conception Abbey.

Workmen were loading out some walnut logs this week at Elmo. There were three car loads of them, and they got to Des Moines, Iowa. The logs belonged to Edgar Carlson.

Miss Carrie Sloan of Elmo got a telegram Friday from her brother, Joe Sloan, that he had landed on American soil once more. He is at Hoboken, New Jersey, and expects to be home before a great while.

A trade was made a week or so ago, by which C. T. Wiley becomes the owner of the W. H. Dougherty farm of 140 acres, lying west of Elmo about two miles. Mr. Dougherty will live on the farm this year.

Good prices were realized at the public sale of Harry L. Yates of Burliigton Junction Tuesday. Hay sold for $32 a ton, corn for $1.45 to $1.48 a bushel and oats for 80 cents. A bunch of good Hereford cows sold for prices ranging from $100 to $118 each. Harry will move to his farm near Skidmore in about two weeks.

Rev. W. H. Rust of Burlington Junction is wearing some bandage over his left eye as a result of a tangle with a Ford car which he attempted to crank Monday. One of the members of his church at Bethany was bringing him to Maitland and when the driver killed his engine Mr. Rust volunteered to crank the car for him. The crank slipped, as cranks some times will do, and Mr. Rust struck his forehead on the corner of the number plate of the car, cutting a deep gash in it This explains that it was not a piece of kindling which is usually the alibi

Mr. and Mrs. Vern Reed, who have been living on the old Wes Miller farm southwest of Burlington Junction, left Monday afternoon for DeRidder, La. Vern has forty acres of land about three miles from DeRidder joining his brother Carl's forty acres. He has not decided whether he will live on the place this year, as he has work offered him at Lake Charles, other brother, Tom Reed, who is a good town south of DeRidder. Anfarming south of Wilcox, owns eighty acres just a half mile from Carl and Vern's land. He may move there next year.

F. E. Reed has bought the ten acre home of William Sallee, located three and a half miles southwest of Wilcox. This is a well improved place and Mr. Reed is buying it for a home. The consideration was $3,000. He gets immediate possession. Mr. Sallee has bought in the southern part of the county.

Ed Vanpelt of near Quitman was transacting business in Burlington Junction Saturday. He bought the C. I. Hann 120 acre farm northeast of town last fall and will move here this spring. George Senson has been farming the place for the past year.

The members of the Burlington Junction Boy Scout Troop No. 1 held their first meeting in their rooms over the Zarn store Tuesday evening. Fourteen Scouts were present and the meeting was in charge of Ccoutmaster R. O. Corken and Assistant Scoutmaster Richard Zarn. The boys were given an unexpected treat at about 8:30 when their good mothers brought refreshments of cocoa and wafers. The front room is furnished wit hchairs and table and the back room has shelves and other receptacles where the Scouts may keep their supplies and relics. When they go in full swing the Scouts will have very convenient and comfortable quarters. Mr. Zarn is letting them use the rooms free of charge.

C. B. Sewell of Holdrege, Neb., visited last week with his brother, M. L. Sewell and family, and with Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Walker of Burlington Junction. Charles is making good as salesman for the International Harvester company and now has a good position with this establishment. He expects to be transferred in the spring to another territory.

The classes in High School Agriculture at Barnard have been testing milk the past week and studying dairy records. It is planned for these classes to visit the Craig dairy near Maryville, soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Adams, who have been making their home at Sacramento, Calif., for almost two years, stopped at Burlington Junction Monday on their way back west from St. Louis where they have been visiting relatives for several weeks. They will spend the remainder of the winter in California and then may return to Burlington Junction to make their home again. Frank has been buying horses since going west.

Sam Robbins of Hopkins, this week bought the Homer Edwards eighty of near Shambaugh, the price paid being $150 an acre. Henry Behm has sold the Neut Burch farm recently bought by Albert Mutti to Chas. Baker west of Hopkins, at $160 an acre, and Frank Mahan has sold the Wooldridge eighty northeast of Hpkins to Howard Wolverton at $110 an acre. The Behm-Edwards deal was made through the agency of John McBeth.

Jim Melvin of Hopkins, was feelinng extra goods last week, having just received word that his son, Vern, had arrived in "the States" from overseas. Jim had three boys in the service and of course is proud of all of them.

The following is a copy of a letter recently received by Clyde Collins of Skidmore, who was a runner between companies 103—his own company—and 104 in the second battle of the Marne.

THE YANKEE DIVISION
"Discipline and Stout Hearts."

Private Clyde Collins, Company B, 103d Infantry:—

I have read with much pleasure the reports of your regimental commander regarding your gallant conduct and devotion to duty in the field on July 18th to 25th, 1918, in the attack under heavy enemy fire—2d battle of the Marne, and have ordered your name and deed to be entered in the record of the Yankee Division.

(Signed) C. R. EDWARDS.
Major General, Commanding 26th Division.

Pearl Hays has purchased the C. H. Beverlin property in the southwest part of Skidmore for $1,400, and will get possession about March 1. Charley Beverlin did not want to move away from Skidmore, so he bought the Mrs. Al Pruceman property in the west part of town. Consideration $1,100.

Frank Rickabaugh of Parnell, is getting to be a grower of seed corn on a large scale. Last week he shipped three bushels to a man in Iowa by the name of Woods.

C. S. Hayes, who lived in Ravenwood, about ten years and who moved from our midst twenty years ago, returned to our little burg Friday evening of last week and spent several days mingling with old time friends. He was accompanied by his brother, Oscar, who also lives at Lewisville, Ill. The former Hayes is surveyor of his home county.

The first Ravenwood boy to get his discharge and return from service over seas is Grant Gates, who came in Sunday morning. He was in the medical detachment of the Third Battalion and served in various divisions at the front His stories of conditions are most interesting and the Gazette regrets that we are not equipped to furnish many of them in the paper. Grant met General Pershing a few times and also a number of the other American generals and he is of the opinion that some of Pershing's subordinates are better qualified to look after the safety of the Doughboys than he is. Pershing is too militaristic, according to Gates, and his is not the first criticism that he have seen of the general. He expects as much of the soldier who has taken the short term drill course as he would of the regular army veteran.

A telephone meeting was held at the Farmers Bank of Parnell Saturday afternoon and it was unanimously carried that the dues for this office should he raised at least ten cents per telephone, and it was so recommended to the annual meeting to be held at Worth tomorrow. An operator has a hard time of it at the very best and they should be paid for their work and we might get better service.

IN MEMORY OF ROOSEVELT

Filled with a fiery righteousness,
A warrior for God was he;
Impersonation of fearlessness
For "strong in the Lord" was he.
And oft against "spiritual wickedness"
In places high he fought;
And did such virile force possess
It was not in vain he wrought.

'Gainst "powers" and "principalities"
Wherein was surely harm,
If this cause were humanity's
How swift to bare that arm.
That wondrous strength how freely given
To combat wrong, uphold the right;
Well for his country he has striven
And has increased her might.

O, in how many walks and ways!
How many the paths he blessed!
To him his country gives her praise,
And well may he be praised
As statesman, soldier, publicist
With courage he has served,
And from the path he saw as right
Not one inch has he swerved.

O can it be that you are gone,
Who were but yesterday so tstrong
To lead and point the way!
You showed to us your Guiding Star,
But blindly following from afar,
We groped along the way.
Yet we rejoice we struggled on,
And you were saared to us thus long
To guide toward the Day.
And you were spared until the Dawn,
Your influence cannot be withdrawn,
You showed America the Light!
You helped America choose the Right!

Our love and gratitude to you
We shall forever owe;
And other lands are debtor, too,
How much we cannot know.
You taught to us that Freedom's cause
No boundaries yet could bound,
And that our neighbors' cause is ours,
Where tyranny is found
You set for us a higher goal,
You helped America save her soul!

You wrought for peace of righteousness
And righteousness of peace,
You stirred us from our slothfulness,
Nor did your labors cease;
You thought to teach men to endurs,
You sought to make a peace secure
'Gainst future types of Huns;
You would have pour country take her place,
Supported by a manly race,
True Freedom's worthy sons,
True champions of humanity,
Of brotherhodd and Liberty,
Who would keep their country's honor free

This then, for service be prepared,
One lesson taught by you.
It seems that you can ill be speraed
You were our mentor true;
An inspiration to live God's laws,
And animation to Freedom's cause.
So may we rise to every task,
O may we strive as you have striven
Support the right, suppress the wrong,
And tho" alone, in our faith stand strong.
O, how could world or nation ask
More of one man than you have given!

A recent news dispatch says that an invention has been perfected to permit ten people to talk over a wire at once. Great oversight in the Farmers' Mutual that it did not have the thing patented a long tome ago.

Observation: It doesn't take much "will power" for a man to resist the temptation to go to church Sunday morning.

Growing thin makes a man worry and worrying makes a man grow thin. This is a great world.

There are some other delusions that sometimes seize a man besides the one that there is money in keeping a few chickens in town.

Brethren and Sisters: Believe me, I can't grow enthusiastic over that story in the Bible about the return of the prodigal son. That ornery whelp went away and left the old man and the other boys right in potato digging time and went away with some chicken and had him a good time as long as his money lasted. Then, when she had ditched him for some other fellow who had coin, the kid went sneaking back home, and the old fool father went out to meet him and sent the good boy who had stayed at home and helped gather the corn and shock the wheat, to kill the yearling heifer, and made a great feast and took on over the diseased and anaemic son as if he was some pumpkins. I don't blame the good boy who had worked and sweat on the farm while his brother was off having a good time for getting sore at the old man. Do you?

A reader of this colm sends in an original poem with the request that it be given a place in "Forumettes" Sorry, but it can't be did. Poetry is barred from this colm—the prose in it is rotten enough and about all our readers will stand for.

Don't mind it if your friends kid you sometimes—it may save you a lot of grief. Two men, clerks in a local store, got tired of being kidded because they had never taken a chew of tobacco and proceeded to sample a plug of Star. The doctor prescribed a dose of salts and quiet for a day or two.

"Love is a wonderful thing," says a writer in Woman's Journal. It certainly must be. We've seen it lead a girl to leave a good paying job and a pleasant position in life and a good home, and go off to cook three meals a day for an ornery man and do the house drudgery for three kids. It is a wonderful thing—a most wonderful thing.

Skidmore Lodge Installs.

The Royal Neighbors lodge of Skidmore held its installation of officers last Saturday. Those who will administer the affairs of the lodge for 1919 are May Russel, oracle; Hattie Patterson, vice oracle; Ollie Devers, chancellor; Emma Monk, recorder; Mary Dawson, receiver; Margaret Barrett, marshall; Minnie Beverlin, inner sentinel; Nettie Coston, outer sentinel; May Owens, manager. The installation ceremonies were followed by a program and supper.

Gives Quilting Party.

Mrs. E. T. Russel living in the White Cloud neighborhood entertained with an old fashioned quilting party and dinner Wednesday in honor of her house guest, Miss Ella Carey. The quilt on which the ladies worked was one peiced and given Mrs. Russell twenty-four years ago by her grandmother. At noon a delicious three-course dinner was served. During the afternoon a number of pleasing selections on the piano were given by one of the guests, Miss Nettie Cox of this city.

Christian Women Meet.

The Women's Missionary Society of the First Christian church met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. J. Heifner on North Main street, with Mrs. G. H. Westfall in charge of the program for the afternoon. Mrs. Walton Frank led the devotional part of the meeting. During the business session a vote of thanks was extended by the society to Mrs. F. P. Reuillard for her efforts in promoting the presentation of the "Stunt Fest," the home talent play given under the auspices of the society which was a decided success. Miss Louise Heifner gave several Victrola numbers before the regular program opened. Mrs. Eugene Lyle and Mrs. Heifner gave readings upon the subjects "Coolie Women of India" and "Women Workers of Japan." One of the most delightful features of the program was a solo by Mrs. Sarah E. Wright "The Old Musician and His Harp." Both the song and the singer were charming. Mrs. Vada Halley gave a reading and the conclusion was the reading of a letter from Mrs. J. D. Frank of Livingston, Texas, thanking the soicety for flowers sent at the time of the death of her son, Ellison, who died at Camp McArthur, Texas, and encouraging the members in their work. Among the visiting friends present were Mrs. Bever, of Burlington Junction, the guest of Mrs. Halley and Mrs. J. S. Van Cleve.

Each member took some part in the discussion. Mrs. Bruce Montgomery and Mrs. L. E. Zeigler gave as readings Kipling's "Recessional" and "Mrs. Prisbie Turns Critic." The next meeting will be held with Mrs. Bruce Montgomery on March 6.

Costellos Surprised.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Ed Costello were given a surprise party last night by a bunch of their neighbors and friends, the affair being planned for the celebration of Mr. Costello's birthday anniversary. The event was a perfect surprise, the crowd gathered at the J. F. Cook home, took a plenty of good eats along and went to the Costello home about eight o'clock, where Mr. and Mrs. Costello were expecting a crowd of their son's friends, whom they had been told were coming down. The evening was spent with games and music and supper. The guests were Dr. and Mrs. F. M. Ryan, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Ferritor, Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Holmes, Mr. and Mrs. U. S. Wright, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Many doctors and nurses use Musterole and recommend it to their patients.

They will gladly tell you what relief it gives from sore throat, bronchitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia).

ARMENIA IS THE AMERICA OF ASIA

RICH IN NATURAL RESOURCES, COUNTRY PROMISED TO BE A GREAT DEMOCRACY.

STOOD IN GERMANY'S WAY

Fact Has Been Established That Hun War Lords Dictated the Little Nation's Destruction.

Amenia is the America of Asia. It promised to be a great democracy. It stood in the way of German autocracy and the Berlin to Bagdad dream of the late German ruler. Therefore Armenia had to give way to the Hun. It has been established that the attempted extermination of the Armenian race was dictated by the war lords of Germany. The Turks made good agents for the German government and accomplished its orders to the utmost satisfaction of the Teutons.

Armenia is one of the oldest nations of people in the world. Its history antedates Rome and goes back to the early Christian era. It has no political existence at the present time, consequently is absolutely dependent on the mercy of other nations for support and maintenance.

The Aremnian people are of the Caucasian race. They speak their own language. They are progressive, politically educationally and religiously. Practically all the educators, doctors, lawyers, bankers and men of other professions of the Turkish empire have been Armenians. The country is rich in natural resources, and if given assistance at this most critical time, will rise to a self-supporting nation in a short time. Most of the Armenian men have been killed in the Turkish massacres. Many of its women have fallen, and the white bones of hundreds of thousands today lie on the desert sands between the Black Sea and the Mediterranean. Yet the situation is not hopeless.

The American Committee for Relief in the Near East will return this remnant of a Christian nation to the fertile farms and cities of former progressive Armenian communities. The committee will feed these stricken people over the winter. It is already feeding them. It will give them seeds and farming implements, cattle and sheep. More than 50,000 homes wul be erected, taking the places of homes destroyed by the Turks. It will be the cheapest money America ever spent. The 30 million asked in the nationwide drive to start Feb. 3 in Missouri represents only 30 cents per capita of the American population. It is only one-fifth of the amount which we gave for the comfort of our own soldiers in France.

The first of a fleet of relief ships owned by the American Committee for Relief in the Near East left New York last Monday bound for Asia Minor. The vessel, the Mercurius, which has been given the committee by the Navy Department, with the approval of the Food Administration, carries an assorted cargo of materials and equipment for the Armenians. It is expected to reach Constantinople in about a month and begin the distributing of food, clothing and medical supplies. Another steamer, similarly equipped, but carrying a greater supply of foodstuffs, will sail from New York the middle of next month. Cholera has been added to the many miseries of the afflicted people and hundreds of refugees are dying every day from the plague. Severe hunger is aggravating the pestilence. Fifteen American hospitals in France have been turned over to the American Committee and will be transported to Asia Minor.

WHY RED CROSS DOES NOT DO THIS WORK

All During War American Committee Had Worked in Turkey and They Are Now on the Scene.

From the time the United States entered the war it was impossible for the Red Cross to carry on its work in Turkey. With other organizations they were forced to leave the Ottoman Empire.

During all the latter part of the struggle when all other organizations had been evicted from Turkey the American missionaries stayed.

They were on the ground during the persecution of the Armenians, the Assyrians, the Greeks and the Jews.

They managed to maintain their organization through the war. They have been in the country for many years and are entirely familiar with the situation.

They will not have to train and send workers there for the distribution of the $30,000,000 fund that is being raised in this country Feb. 3-10 for the starving people of the Near East.

Their organization has been examined by the U. S. Food Administration and pronounced entirely satisfactory and able to carry out the work that must be done. They are ready to start working just as soon as the funds can be raised and placed in their hands. They know the Armenians, Greeks and other peoples with whom they hace to deal and they also know the Turk.

Indian only by the color of his skin and his straight black hair. Otherwise he is just like ordinary country folks.

"Canada has solved its Indian problems," said William Graham, Commissioner of Indian Affairs of Western Canada. "Canada has civilized him.

"The Canadian Indian today is an educated farmer. He is a Christian and goes to church regularly every Sunday—often drives there with his family in his automobile. His children go to school. He makes his living by cultivating the soil. He is as good a farmer as his white neighbors—sometimes a better one. Government agricultural experts visit him periodically. They teach him the latest scientific methods of cultivating the land. Many Indians are agronomists in the highest culture sense. The new generation is keen to learn and progress and become the equal of the white man in every way.

"The richness of Canadian soil has had much to do with changing the Indians. They have seen their white neighbors taking fortunes out of the ground with a plow, and it has encouraged them to do likewise.."

The Commissioner said there was no foundation for the common belief that the Indians were gradually dying out. The Indian population of Canada has been increasing for the last ten years. Better living conditions, education and medical attention are accountable for this. There are 100,000 Indians in Canada. Indians in Western Canada put under cultivation 100,000 acres of land last year. They produced 400,000 bushels of wheat. All the Indian reserves are self-supporting.

Two thousand Indians enlisted in the Canadian army, went overseas and upheld their old warpath traditions in the war against the Hun.

EVERY MAN OWN MOONSHINER

Slogan of "Wets" Causes Old Timers to Dig up Recipes and "Kitchen Stills" to Be Numerous.

Washington, Feb. 4.—Every man his own moonshiner—so simple a child can make it!

This is the impression one gains after talking with occupants of the "mourners' bench" in the national capital. Although five months remain before war-time prohibition becomes effective—after which the constitutional amendment will become operative, probably without giving the mourners a breathing space—Washingtonians, at least, appear to be fortifying themselves with weld formulas for the concoction of various "kitchen kicks" and "subterranean snifters." And it is not improbable that Washington is no exception.

For instance, you meet one of the old-timers on Pennsylvania avenue. You exchange condolence with him. He weeps copiously as he wails a requiem for the good old days when "personal liberty" was simply lying around loose in slathers, waiting to be picked up. But in the midst of the dirge his face lights up with an expression not unlike that of the drowning mariner who sights a lifebelt floating within his reach.

"Say!" he confides, "I got something here I'm gonna try. Sounds pretty good." And surreptitiously he draws forth from his wallet the magic formula. As a rule it runs along something like this:

"This two pounds of corn meal and put it in a stone jug. Then put in a pound of brown sugar, eleven raisins, a cake of yeast and a dash of Jamaica ginger. Fill the jug with water, put a stone on the cork and bury it in the backyard in the dark of the moon. Let it stay for three weeks and it's then ready to serve"—if shock-proof glasses are used.

"And they say," is the usual comment of the old-timer, "that it's got a kick that'd make any army mule blush for shame.

There are many and varied of these recipes floating around, and it is said that the government officials upon whom will devolve the responsibility of enforcing the prohibition laws already are laying their lines for raids on "kitchen stills."

But if the resultant concoctions are as deadly as the formulas might indicate, there is reason to believe that they will have little to do, and that the problem, "What shall we do with our ex-bartenders?" can be easily solved. The answer is:

"Make undertakers of 'em."

$10, BUT NO LIVER

Even With Peace Army Life Is Not All Peaches and Cream.

Paris, Jan. 17.—Even if peace has come, army life is not all peaches and cream, but when it is all liver, there is going to be a kick. There was, too, in a regiment north of here recently when, after a period of no fresh meat, every supply train for about two weeks brought a shipment of liver, which the boys had morning, noon and night.

A big doughboy stood this until one day he got a letter from home with a check for 100 francs. Straightway he got leave and made for Bar-le-Duc. He walked into the Y. M. C. A. canteen there, settled himself at a table and called for a menu card. And there it was again—liver—but further examination showed that there were plenty of other things. Taking out a pencil, the doughboy carefully blotted out the offending viand. Then he handed the "Y" women the card and announced triumphantly:

"Gimme ten dollars worth both ways from the liver."

Punches vs. Pulpits.

London, Jan. 20.—A stunt that has delighted some hundreds of American soldiers and scandalized some well-meaning but old-fashioned persons have been "pulled off" here in the form of a boxing show which a Baptist minister staged in his church in one of the London camp areas.

The Y. M. C. A. had been arranging these contests between Yanks and Tommies, but in the particular camp mentioned there had been none because there was no suitable place to hold it. Then the minister stepped forward and offered his church. The Lieutenant Colonel of the outfit was the referee and "a merry time was had by all," as may be judged from the fact that the six bouts resulted in three knockouts.
